The new postal notes, which are to be used after September 3 in the transmission of small sums of money through the United States mails, are being printed rapidly in this city, and they will be ready for shimment to all the post offices in the country on Wednesday. Books of notes for the nest offices in the far West were completed yesterday. Every book contains 500 postal note forms, with the address of the post office printed on such note. The nages of the books are perforated, so that when the notes are torn out stubs remain to show the amounts for which they were issued. A note can be filled out by a postmaster for any amount not exceeding $5, at a cost to the sender of three cents for each note. The notes are made payable to "the bearer" and they can be used, as fractional currency many place to which they are sent. To guard against the use of the notes before the law anthorizing rheir issue goes into effect, C. F. Macdonald, Superintendent of the Money Order system at Washington, has caused to be pasted in each book of forms the following notice: "The postal note ususness will commence on September 3, 1883, Under no circumstances whatever are any postal notes to be issued from this book before that date."

The notes are printed on pure linen bank-note paper of the best quality, chemically prepared in such a manner as not to be affected by moisture or exposure to light, while it is sensitive to the action of acids or other liquids often used by forgers. The color of the paper is a pure lemm, and the front surface is printed over with an underlying thit

WHOLESALE DEATH OF CHICKENS. THE FOWLS OF NEW-BRUNSWICK DYING FROM EAT-

For the past fortnight the chickens raised in a portion of the Sixth Ward of New-Brunswick have been dying off in a way that was saddening in the extreme to the raisers, who are all poor people, working in the great factory of the Norfolk and New-Brunswick Hosiery Company. The fowls were first seized with convulsions and would he in a state of come and die without making any further sign. Some of the raisers imagined that their chickens when they were in convulsions were shaking from congestive childs and jumped to the conclusion that their poultry was dying of ague. But others thought that they must have eaten something of a poisonous nature, and cut down indiscriminately all the weeds in the vicinity. In the belief that a chicken epidemic was hovering in the air over New-Brunswick, a resident communicated to The Tribuns the painful fact that about 150 chickens had died mysteriously in the past ten days. A reporter went to New-Brunswick yesterday, and ascertained that the poultry had been eating the seeds of the Jamestown weed or the Datura Stramonium. The plant is extremely potsonous. FUNERAL OF MRS. GLOUCESTER.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GLOUCESTER.

The funeral services over Mrs. Elizabeth A. Gloucester, who had the distinction of being the richest colored woman in the United States, with a fortune estimated at haif a million dollars, were held vesterday at her house, No. 144 Remsen-st., Brooklyo. The rooms were crowded with people, white and black. The body was piaced in a coffin covered with black cloth, with silver trimmings, and a plate bearing the inscription "Elizabeth A. Gloucester, died August 9, 1883. Aged sixty-six years." A massive floral column of white roses and lilies, twined with a wreath of smilax, rising from a back of hyacinths, tuberoses, day lines and tea-roses, a cross of white and tea roses, with the legend "At Rest" in purple flowers, and a large floral pillow with the inscription, "Our Grandmether," were among the floral tributes. The services were conducted by the Rev. A. M. Freeman, of Siloam Presbyterian Church, in Prince-st., assisted by the Rev. Mr. Paton, of Fleet Street Arrican Methodist Episcopal Church; the Rev. R. H. Dyson, of the Zion Methodist Episcopal Church. Bleecker-st., New-York; and the Rev. Mr. Thomas, of the Bridge Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

Mr. Freeman spoke of the life and work of the dead woman and her efforts in behalf of her race. When John Brown made his invasion of the South she etood at his back and helped him with money. She organized a fair for the benefit of the Colored Orphan Asylum, in New-York, at which $1,100 was taken in and paid over to that institution. RIPARIAN RIGHTS ON WARD'S ISLAND.

Six acres of land, between high and low water, and situated directly in front of the buildings of the Commissioners of Emigration on Ward's Island, have been advertised to be sold at anction under a judgment of foreclosure, on August 31, for Dennis McMahon, a lawyer, of Temple Court. Mr. McMahon estimates the value of the riparna rights at about $50,000. This property, together with some owned by the heirs of the late Jasper Ward, and also situated on Ward's Island, has been offered for sale to the City of New York and the Commissioners of Emigration, and some surprise has been manifested by those knowing the facts in the case that those in authority have not purchased the land, especially as it is situated directly in front of the buildings of the Commissioners of Emigration. A. Tribune reporter asked Superintendent Jackson yesterday whether he would recommend the Commissioners to purchase the property. He said he should not. He did not see of what practical utility the property could be to the State or city. "We have more land now on the Island," he said, "than we can utilize, and unless we thought of engaging in some business enterprise they are utterly worthless to us. We have at present all the water-front we require." RIPARIAN RIGHTS ON WARD'S ISLAND.

SEEING THE GHOST OF HER DEAD SON. SEEING THE GHOST OF HER DEAD SON, Mrs. John Hallett, of Meserole-ave, and Leonardst., Brookiyn, firmly believes that she has seen the ghost of her son, Charles, who died in September last. She says that she was sitting in her kitchen on Friday morning, thinking of Charles, when she heard three distinct raps, and turning saw him in the doorway, as natural as she used to see him, his face emaciated but smiling. "He walked toward me," she said, "and I felt his warm breath on my cheek just as I did when he was dying. His face was the happiest I ever saw. He took me by the hand and passed his other hand over my forchead. I called my daughter and the form vanished." Mrs. Hallett says that she never before believed the dead returned to earth, but she is sure the form she saw was that of her dead son. She was relating the story to some friends when a messenger came and told her that her dead son's only child was dying.

RIVAL CLAIMANTS FOR A MAN'S BODY. AN INSURANCE POLICY IN PROSPECT-THE IMPOS-TOR RETIRES.

The death on Thursday evening at the Roosevelt Hospital of Isaac Howell, who was injured on Tuesday by the fall of an elevator in the St. Albans flats at No. 351 West Thirty-eighthst., has brought to light two rival claimants to an undivided half of Howell's marriage certificate. The first appeared at the bospital the day before Howell died, accompanied by a man, a woman and a baby. She told the house-surgeon that she was Mrs. Howell, that the baby was Howell's and hers, the other woman was her sister. Mrs. Allen, and the man was Mrs. Allen's husband. She seemed much distressed by the accident and wept coniously. When Howell died she returned and said that she would send an malertaker for the body. Shortly after she left another young woman called with two children and a man who, she said, was her brother. She said she had come from Newark, where she was married to Howell ten years ago. Howell had worked in New-Jersey, she said, but recently he had found work in New-York. He visited her regularly and always paid her half his week's wages. She had come for the body and intended to take it with her to Newark.

While this new Mrs. Howell was speaking an agent from the Pradential Life Insurance Company entered the hospital. A Mrs. Howell, he said, had callee at the office with an insurance policy by Howell. He had told her to take a blank death-certificate and have it filled out by the Coroner. Meanwhile he would hold the policy. "He had come to the hospital to see that she did it properly." Upon this the Newark wife deciared that she did not want the insurance, but she wanted her husband's body and would nave it. She then left the hospital with her bother and sister.

A TRIBUNE reporter visited the hospital yester-deciared that she did not want the insurance, but she wanted her husband's body and would nave it.

she wanted her husband's body and would have it. She then left the hospital with her brother and sister.

A TRIBUNE reporter visited the hospital yesterday and learned that the Newark party had returned home but intended to come back for the body, which they had given instructions to have kept on ice. The other Mrs. Howell had not returned to the hospital to have the death-certificate filled out and it was not expected that she would. At No. 97 Macdonial-st, it was learned that Howell and a woman whom he called his wife had been living there for four months. She was then with her friend, Mrs. Allen, at No. 150 Bleecker-st. A visit to the latter place was then made, and it was learned that the woman who claimed to be Mrs. Howell was upstairs. She had been living with Howell for four months but during that time she had been known generally as Mrs. Gilmore, and she was aware that Howell had a wife living at Newark. Howell and Allen were both in the employ of the Metropolitan Van Company, and the day before Howelt died Allen sent and renewed Howelt's policy, which he said was for $150. The Van Company had neard of Howelt's death, and having been told by Allen that Howelt's wife lived in Newark, they offered to put the body in a coffin and send it there. The offer was only withdrawn when Mrs. Howell and ougal-st, has not been seen at the hospital or at the insurance office since Mrs. Howell in Macdougal-st, has not been seen at the hospital or at the insurance office since Mrs. Howell's advent, and inquiry among the neighbors showed that the house in Macdougal-st, was let to lodgers of not always the best description. The neighbors said that it was well known that Mrs. Gilmore was not Howell's wife. The body will be sent to Newark to-day.

A SWINDLER AND HIS "BABY."

Alfred Lucbenstein, ex-advertising agent of The Judge Publishing Company, who was discharged in the Court of Special Sessions on Friday on a charge of securing $10 by false representation from Oliver Dorion, a Fulton Market restaurant-keeper, was arrested on a warrant on Friday night by Court Officer Nixon. Alexander Liffers, cashier of the Heim Leather Belting Company, at No. 328 Pearl-st., was the complainant when Liebenstein was arraigned in the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday. He said that on June 10 and July 2 Liebenstein borrowed sums of money from him by stating that he was the owner of one-third of The Judge Publishing Company, and that he wished to use the miney in paying his hands, as the pay-roll was short. Both these sums were returned. On July 23 Liebenstein borrowed $10 more on the same pretence, and this sum was not returned. On inquiry it was found that Liebenstein was not connected with the firm. Liebenstein was committed in default of $200 bail for trial in the General Sessions.

When arrested on Friday night Liebenstein was striling through West Fourteenth-st, with a well-dressed young woman, whom he left at the Maison Dorée before accompanying the officer to the Thirtieth Street Police Station, where he was locked up. This is supposed to be the same young woman to whom Liebenstein Market prison yesterday:

Altrage. A SWINDLER AND HIS "BABY,"

of which I medical parts with. I waith expectation to the following points contained in the report which would seem to require explanation:

First. The total number of licenses of all grades granted by the Board of Excise during the dead year ending April 30, 1883, is stated to be 8.813, of which 3,279 are for ale and beer only. The Commissioners suggest that the proportion of ale and beer heenses is large, and call attention to the comparison made by the Society for the Prevention of Crime as between the United States Internal Revenue records for the year ending November 1,1882, which is stated as follows: United States Internal Revenue liquor dealers, 8,657, Excise Board retail fiquor dealers, 6,697, Excise Board retail fiquor dealers, 6,697, Excise Board retail fiquor dealers, 8,697, Excise Board retail fiquor dealers, 8,697, Excise Board retail fiquor dealers, 8,697, excise floard ale and bees licenses, 3,279, difference, 2,884. These figures would seem to indicate, as stated by the Commissioners, that "under cover of an ale and beer license, have been sold," and the law thus violated to a very great extent.

Second. It seems to me that the suggestion of the Commissioners relative to the method of keeping a book to contain an alphabetical list of the sureties a good one, and I have no doubt that you will agree with me, and that the suggestion will be carried out.

Third. It is stated by the Commissioners of Accounts that it appears to be the practice of the Excise Commissioners to date licenses from the day on which the Board, and that, for the time intervening between the granting of the hoomes and the time when the certificate is taken out and paid for, the party to whom the disease from the day on which the Board, and that, for the time intervening between the granting of the hoomes and the time when the certificate is taken out and paid for, the party to whom the disease is granted earlies on his business in violation of law, and that the city loses largely thereby.

I am aware that these criticisms app

COMPULSION IN THE BUILDING TRADES.

The walking delegates of the different unions engaged in the building trades are kept busy ordering and settling strikes on buildings where "scab" or non-union workmen are employed. A strike of the union men engaged on the new Produce Exchange building was ordered for Monday, and all contractors employing non-union men were informed of the fact. Yesterday, however, Delegates Lyons, of the Laborers' Union; Lake, of the Plasterers' Union, and Farrell, of the Plumbers' Union, had a conference with the contractors, and it was agreed that the non-union men should be required either to join the unions or be discharged. On this condition the strike was declared off. As a result of the agreement thirteen non-union plumbers and sixteen laborers joined the unions.

The delegate of the Stone-Cutters' Union gave notice to Sinclair & Wells, who are putting up a row of buildings at Seventy-second-st, and Eighthave, that they must either discharge the non-union stone-cutters of force them to join the union under penalty of a strike. A majority of the men joined the union; the others were discharged. The strike was thus averted. A similar demand was made on Contractor Blackledge, who has charge of the buildings now being constructed in Eighty-third-st, between Eighth and Ninth aves., and the same result followed.

A FESTIVAL OF SPANISH RESIDENTS. A FESTIVAL OF SPANISH RESIDENTS.

The Spanish colony turned out in large numbers last night in Washington Park to celebrate the fifth apnual festival of the society "La Armonia," a leading musical and social society composed of members from all the other Spanish societies in New-York and Brooklyn. The programme consisted of dancing and singing by members. The Spanish Consul, Miguel Suarez, presided. Among those present were Felipe Cusachs, Alvaro Garcia, Orturo Cuyas, Antouio Gonzalez, Segundo Garcia, J. G. Reitner, Antonio Bianeo, Joseph Delanoy, Frank Morten, Edouard Stuuller, P. Valdez, Jossé Vega and B. Simms. Ameng the vocalists of the evening were Miss Lillian Booth, Mrs. McCormack, Isabel Vega, and Carlo Hohlbeck.

A MADMAN CUTS OFF HIS FINGER. Charles W. Wultzen, a Centre Market butcher, was carving meat in his stand shortly after noon yesterday, when a man entered and gazed about, as if nucertain what he wanted. The stranger was not well dressed, and his face and hands were not clean. Mr. Wultzen concluded that the man was a tramp. A large cleaver lav upon a ment-block in the stand, and the man seized it, and, placing the little finger of his left band on the block, he brought down the cleaver with such accurate aim that the end of the finger was cut off at the first joint. Then Mr. Wultzen realized that the man was a lunatic. No cry of pain escaped the stranger, but there was a wild look in his eyes as he laid down the cleaver and inquired: "Why don't you put my finger on again?" He did not wait for a reply, however, but waiked rapidly out of the market, rubbing the bleeding sanap of his finger against his coat. A policeman who was summened to the market after some delay, could not find the madman.

OSCAR WILDE'S AMBITION.

AN ABSTRACTION TO BE DRAMATIZED.

"Mr. Wilde?" said the clark at the Branswick Hotel to a Patibuxe reporter yesterday. "Yes, there he is sitting on that bench." The reporter gazed in the direction indicated, but thought the clerk must have been mistaken. In place of the rather gannt, long-haired and sallow-faced Oscar of a few mouths ago, he saw a rosycheeked, cherry-faced individual whose close-copied hair was almost hidden in the shade of a broad-brimmed, peaked felt hat. But on drawning close Mr. Wilde's identity became apparent, and holding out his hand he gave a cordial greeting. He had only been in the city for a few hours, having arrived on the Britannic early in the morning. "I suppose I am looking well," assented he; "you see a sea voyage does one a tremendous lot of good. Besides the invigorating air there is the absence of all petty annoyances such as inquisitive callers, letters that have to be answered and —."

"On, no, I really think that is too bad. I never object to talking with new-paper men, and, in fact, generally enjoy it. What have I been doing since I left America! Resting chieft. As soon as I reached the other side I went to Paris and, shutting myself up there, I devoted myself to writing a new play which I have with me here. Its scene is laid in Europe in the sixteenth century. I stopped in Paris till the Salon was opened and then went to London. I was so importuned by the students of the Royal Academy to give them a lecture on painting, that I consented, and I gness what I told them must have roused the ire of their several preceptors and instructors, to whom my ideas are is "caviare to the general." Then every one was always asking me my opinion of America's so I lost patience and told them to wait til they heard my lecture on America. I was in for it then, you see, and had to lecture in London. I had heaps of offers for the provinces, of course, but I only repeated it five or six times, for I had to hurry to America.
"Now, I suppose you want to know what I have olders for the provinces, of colors, but to peated it five or six times, for I had to hurry to America.

"Now, I suppose you want to know what I have come over for specially. Well, first and foremost, it is to superintend the production of 'Vera,' but there is a motive behind that. Last year I told the people of America, or rather as many as would come to hear me, what my views of art were. This year I want them to see those ideas put into practice. In 'Vera' I am making a bold experiment. I am trying to see whether the love of an abstract idea cannot be made as dramatically interesting as the love of an individual. I am trying, too, whether the hoarse cry of the yearners after liberty, which rose above the dia around the barricades in Paris, and still is heard not quite drowned by the drum-taps of the Russian soldiery as they beat at the executions of the Ninlistic martyrs, whether that hoarse, barsh cry, which has never ceased in Europe for ninety years, cannot be reduced to music, and thus become a work of art. That my scene is laid in Russia is a mere accident, due to the fact that Russia is the only country where tyranny is ever grinding the people, and where that dull, unromantic, unemotional Philistine 'middle class' does not exist. In Russia there are only two degrees—the masters and the slaves.
"Now for the first time I am really on my trial"

Russia there are only two degrees—the masters and the slaves.

"Now for the first time I am really on my trial before the American public. Any one can talk about art, but to talk well one must be able to do well. It is only the creator who can analyze his own creations. There are few exceptions to this. Edgar Alian Poe carried the analytical faculty to the utmost, and thus became the exquisite critic as well as the original creator. Keats was an analyst. Byron was not, and to this most of his shortcomings are due. But I must not bore you. I can only add that I shall take the greatest pains to have my costimes and acting as harmonious as I can, though the question of expense has hampered me materially. Miss Prescott seems thoroughly enthusiastic, and if any one can make my play a success, I am and if any one can make my play a success, I am sure she will."

For 5 or 10 cents he buys a brass ring from a Bowery pedier's supply shop. The ring is thick, and on the inside is stamped 18-K. Sometimes a name is also stamped within. The fellow's method of operating is to tap a stranger on the shoulder and say: "Excuse me a moment. I just found this ring, and it's the pure article. I'm mighty hard up, and am willing to sell it for a dollar or two." He always seems to find fresh victims daily.

ROBRING HIS EMPLOYER.

In the Tombs Polics Court yesterday Peter Demarest, age twenty-eight, of No. 77 Sheriff-st., and William Rice, age twenty, of No. 13 Jackson-st., Brooklyn, were charged with grand larceny. Sidney P. Roberts, a dealer in metal of various kinds at No. 217 Water-st., on last Saturday discovered a quantity of tin under the flooring of the third story, where it had evidently been secreted for some a quantity of the under the moning of the third story, where it had evidently been secretical for some dishonest purpose. He marked it, and on Thursday found that it had been removed to the first floor, where it had been placed on the scale by Dennarcst, an employe, who gave for it a bill against his em-ployer for $95, which was at the rate of 9½ cents per pound. Yesterday the order was presented by Rice for payment, whereupon both were appre-

BROOKLYN. The Bridge receipts for last week amounted to $2,892.35.

Mrs. Maria Wolifert was charged by William and Henry Hampfeld, of Union County, N. J. before Justice Walsh, yesterday, with false representations in the sale of some property in New-Lots. She was held in $500 ban to answer.

Eli Johnson, the temperance advocate, complains of the delay in bringing to trial his suit against Mr. Higoy to recover $50,000 for alienating his wite's affections. It is alleged that the strain consequent on the scandal is affecting his mind, as his conduct seems to have changed of late, since his wife began her suit for absolute divorce. her suit for absolute divorce.

The Rev. Frank Edge Kavanagh, a recent graduate of Prince on Theological Seminary, licentials of the North Classis of Long Island, has been called to the Reformed Church of Hyde Park-on-the-Hudson. A special meeting of the Classis has been called for August 20, to attend to his dismissal to to the Classis of Poughkeepie.

About 600 Tongshoremen in Brooklyn, who now receive 25 cents an hour, have received notice that on and after to-morrow they will receive only 20 cents. Sergeant Kellett, commanding the Congress, Sub-Station (taird) was warned that the men had declared that they would not submit, and that they might interfere with others called to take their

The Bar Association of New Lots are taking steps

The Bar Association of New Lots are taking steps to prosecute Ponce Justices Sheriock and Schiellein and Constable Taylor for malfeasance in office. They are charged with making false returns to the Supervisors of persons ariested and convicted who were never arrested. The amount said to be illegally charged is reported to be several thousand dollars. In some of the cases the evidence is all ready to present to the Grand Jury.

The Union and the Empire Gas Light Companies of New-Lots have consolidated, and are arranging to manufacture water gas instead of coal gas. The capital stock of the new company, which is to be known as the Empire Gas Light Company, is $100,000, of which the old stockholders of the Union Company control only $25,000. Samuel Hatton, president of the De Kalb Avenue Railroad, partner of Senator Jacobs, was elected president, and Messra. George Fitzgerald, A. Wagstaff, George Heory, Andrew McLean, William Rapelye and H. J. Callen, director. Messrs, Rapelye and Cullen are the only members who were connected with the Union Company. This is said to be a continuation of the Standard Oil Company's movement to get control of all the gas companies in the State. get control of all the gas companies in the State.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

NEW ROCHELL.—The authorities are said to be considering the advisability of obtaining a supply of water for the village, and are negotiating for the purchase of the artesian well on the Brewery estate.

SING SING .-- J. Lloyd Haigh, who was transferred from the Sing Sing Prison to Auburn on January 2, was released on Monday last. He was sentenced by Judge Gildersleeve on August 6, 1880, for forgery in the third degree, to State Prison for four years; but by good behavior his term was shortened one WHITE PLAINS .- Professor John Swinburne, a WHITE PLAINS.—Professor John Swinburne, a well-known literary man, who has occupied one room in the Crawanpum Hotel in this village for thirty-three years, celebrated the eightieth anniversary of his birthday yesterday.....Elizabeth Purdy, widow of the late James Purdy, has begun a suit against the village for some land taken for the widening of Central Park ave. Her husband sold the property, but Mrs. Purdy now asserts that she was under age when she signed the deeds, and that, therefore, she has a right as dower.

HEMPSTEAD.—The Rev. Dr. Moore, of St. George's Episcopal Church, will to-day complete the twenty-fourth year of his rectorship of that church.

The banco-steerers still remain in force down town, haunting the neighborhood of the Brocklyn Bridge entrance, Park-row and Nassau-st. They do not appear to thrive as formerly, however, judging such resolutions require five votes.

JAMAICA.—An escape was effected from the Queens County Jail last Monday night, but the particulars have been carefully suppressed by the Sheriff and other authorities in hopes that a clew might be gathered which would lead to the recapture of the prisoners. A man named Frank Carroll, assisted by the three inmates of his cell who were continued with him wrenched, a bar from the grating covering the cell windows, and making a rope by tearing the blankets in strips and joining them fogether, succeeded in sliding to the ground, a distance of over thirty feet. The men were not missed until Tuesday morning.

BANYLON.—The Rev. J. B. L'Hommedien, pastor of the Baptist Church, has tendered his resignation, having accepted a call to the Park Baptist Church, at Port Richmond, S. I.

STATEN ISLAND.

New-Brighton.—The Staten Island Telephone Company is owned by a number of local merchants who introduced it for their own convenience. Negotiations are now pending to transfer the stock to the syndicate of Boston capitalists that has secured nearly all the telephone companies in the suburban towns near New-York.

Catholic church next Sunday.

Tompkinsville.—A new method of using condensed gas for lighting buoys is being tested at the lighthouse depot. A temporary lighthouse has been erected on the ferry pier for that purpose. The tanks to hold the gas are tubular in form, and are made strong enough to stand a pressure of 300 pounds to the square inch. The lights are expected to burn three months if the experiment proves successful. Further tests will be made in a few days of Ericsson's torpedo boat the Destroyer. A party of scientific men, with the venerable inventor, it is said, will accompany the boat to sea, when the experiments will be made. An experimental tower, to be used for testing the availability of the electric light in houses, will be erected shortly at the lighthouse depot.

ITALIAN LIFE IN NEW-YORK.

The Italians of Mulberry-st, are as shrewd as they are aconomical. In front of two of the cheap eating houses in that street are signs displaying the bills of fare. In English the prices marked are in some cases double those marked in Italian. Rude-looking, badly lettered signs mark the places of business of most of the Italians engaged in trade in the city. They will not employ regular sign-painters if they can help it. At a number of places to Mulberry-st, stale beer is sold at from 2 to 3 cents for each "schooner" or large glass. Some of the Italians make a business of buying for a nominal sum stale beer discarded by down-town saloon-keepers.

MINING AT WASHINGTON MARKET.

Men as well as boys still continue to dig and scratch in the earth and rubbish at the old Washington Market in the hope of inding treasure, but with an all results yesterday. Five-dollar gold pieces, half-dollars, quarters, dimes and pennies have been found since the market was demoished. Only a few labouers are employed in clearing out and digging for the new market foundations, and the work advances slowly. Carpenters were engaged in building a board fence around the vacant market space yesterday, and the bill-pasters or advertising agents will soon take possession.

CELESTIAL HATRED OF THE CELT.

As some of the citizens of Philadephia are discussing the propriety of appointing Chinamen on the police force, a Tribting reporter sought the views of his laundry man on the question yesterday.

"John, how would you like to be a policemant" asked the reporter.

"Likee whatee?"

Washington, Aug 10—The Lighthonse Board has been informed that the encroachment of the sea at Cape Charles, Mt. is endangering the lighthouse at that point. Since 1867, 300 feet of land have been washed away, and the water line is now within 300 feet of the tower. The water line has been advancing at the rate of 30 feet a year, and unless the erasion is averted the light with have to be abandoned in a few years. A system of jettles costing about $15,000 is recommended to protect the light.
